FRIULI WINE AREAS

THE COLLIO DISTRICT

It is a well-known fact that some of the best wines in the world are produced on the peninsula, with regional variations adding spark and character to that ever-pleasing Italian allure.

Among its vast cultural and historical heritage, eclectic, proud, captivating Friuli-Venezia-Giulia boasts the Collio area: strewn with gentle vineyards and blessed with a special climate and soil, known as Ponca or Flysch, this district sits on the border with Slovenia and fosters the production of outstanding (primarily) white wines, among the best in the country. Awarded the DOC label as early as 1968, Collio Bianco was the first of a series of superb varieties, such as Pinot Grigio, Pinot Bianco, Ribolla Gialla or Friulano, with connoisseurs captivated by their fresh, mineral rich, aromatic and balanced taste.

The renowned dessert wine Picolit is also a local product of excellence: produced in very small quantities, making it rare and exclusive, this wine is elegant and harmonious, exuding all the features that reveal its unique nature.

Wines from the Collio area are best defined as “poetry in a glass”, for they convey the harmony of the bucolic landscape they are produced in: evocative, hill-top San Floriano al Collio is a charming village that sits on the Strada del Vino e delle Ciliegie (the wine and cherry route), with vine clad roads connecting lovely churches, fortresses and serene hamlets.

Habsburg-style Cormons is the main municipality and is dominated by the Quarin Mount, where the first local settlements were established, back in Roman times. The wetland Preval area features small lakes and meadows where you will find deer roaming free and ducks: ideal for relaxing strolls and hikes, its calmness is echoed by the lovely Plessiva wood, replete with oak trees and popular with walkers.

Linking Capriva del Friuli with Sermons, the Sentiero delle Vigne Alte offers hiking, mountain biking and horse-riding opportunities among gentle vineyards that open onto superb views, reflecting the perfect balance between man and nature in a region that stuns and amazes with its natural, historical and cultural gems.
